Arin is a natural Spinjitzu adept who became Lloyd's ninja student together with his friend Sora. He doesn't have Elemental Powers, but he accidentally creates Object Spinjitzu.

LESSONS BY THE CAMPFIRE

Two unlikely companions, Arin and Ras, are traveling together. Arin hopes his former enemy will lead him to his lost parents. Yet, their journey is not easy due to grave injuries Ras had suffered in a battle...

"Stop it!" Ras growled and opened one eye. "I can't sleep when you stare at me. I need sleep to heal."

"Um... I hoped you'd teach me something that I could practice when you rest," said Arin. "I feel like I'm wasting time."

Ras sat up, groaning softly in pain. "All right," he said. "But first, I need to eat."

A loaf of bread was all that was left of the food they were given in a village they passed two days ago. Ras ate it in a second.

"So, what are you gonna teach me?" Arin asked eagerly.

"Lesson one," Ras muttered. "A meal is not complete without dessert..."

Luckily, Arin still had some berries that he had picked up before they walked into the barren land. Ras swallowed them all in one go.

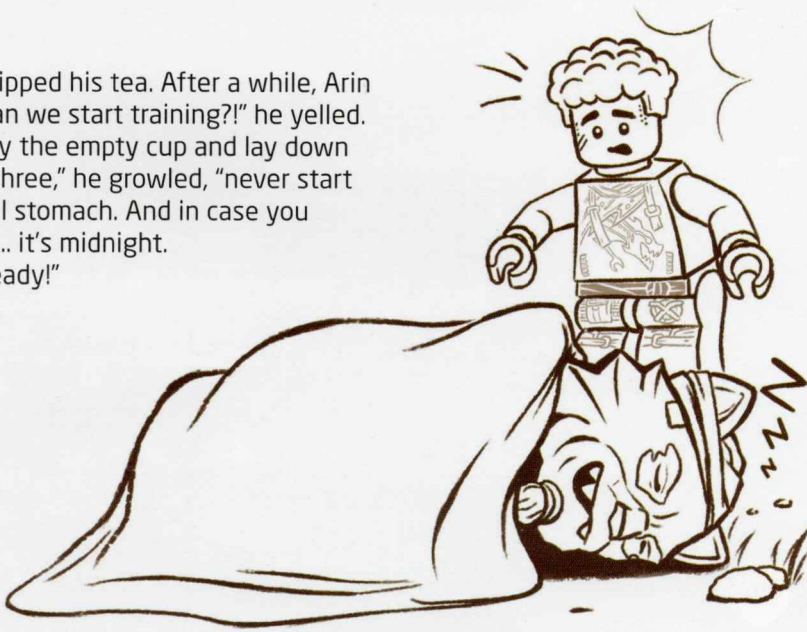
"Can I practice fighting, not feeding?" Arin asked impatiently.

Ras sighed. "Lesson two: always wash down your meal with a warm beverage," he said and pointed at a pot by the fire. "Is there any tea in it?"

Arin clenched his teeth. He grabbed a mug and poured Ras some tea.

Ras slowly sipped his tea. After a while, Arin had enough. "Can we start training?!" he yelled.

Ras put away the empty cup and lay down again. "Lesson three," he growled, "never start training on a full stomach. And in case you haven't noticed... it's midnight. Go to sleep, already!"



Arin needs to find his gear quickly!
Look at the four weapons added to the book

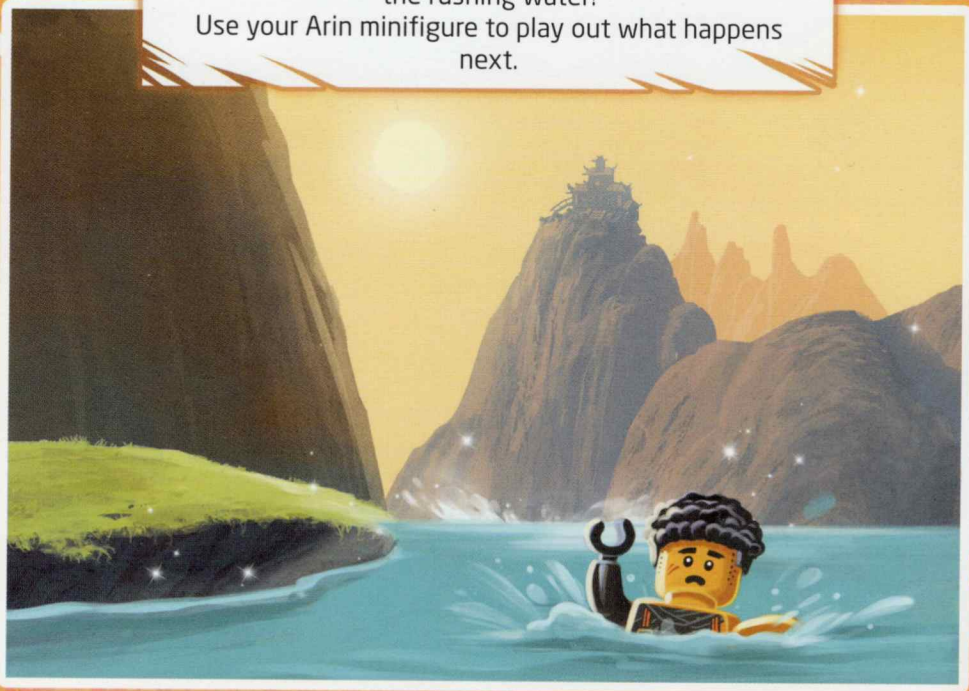
RAPID RIVER CHALLENGE

Arin, desperate to become a fully-formed ninja, practices Spinjitzu alone near a river. One of his flawed but energetic moves sends him straight into the rushing water!
Use your Arin minifigure to play out what happens next.



- Maybe a small dragon living in the river helps him get out of the water safely and they become friends.
- Maybe Arin falls to the bottom of the river and discovers an underwater village there, where he can breathe normally.
- Maybe Arin uses his grapple hook to crawl out on the opposite bank and needs to build something to get back to the other side.

It was an exciting duel! Match up the blue "puzzle pieces" to find out who Sora's opponent was in one of her victorious fights during the Tournament of Sources.
